

Gas Price Update

With the start of the heating season comes a modest increase in gas prices

As the heating season begins, natural gas prices have risen modestly due in large part to the anticipation of increased heating demand for the upcoming winter and one of the colder Octobers in recent history. However, healthy natural gas storage levels have helped keep prices lower than this time last year. Current natural gas prices are approximately 20% lower than last year, and storage levels are 13% above the five-year average.
