

June 15, 2026

Due to the increased chance of thunderstorms, heavy rainfall and potential severe weather across the Greater Houston area this week, we are rescheduling our CenterPoint Energy Community Connect meeting to Wednesday, June 24. CenterPoint Energy's Emergency Operations Center is activated, and at this time, our team is fully focused on providing a safe and effective storm response for all our customers throughout this weather event, including restoring power safely and as quickly as possible to any customers who may be impacted.

We look forward to connecting with you and your neighbors next week to answer your questions and share the latest updates on the vital actions we are taking in West University Place to provide the more reliable power you expect and deserve. Details for the rescheduled community event are as follows:

CenterPoint Energy Community Connect

When: Wednesday, June 24, 2026

6 p.m. – 7:30 p.m. (drop by anytime)

Where: West University Place Community Building

6104 Auden St., West University Place, TX 77005

Thank you for your patience as we continue responding to this weather event on behalf of you, your community and all our Greater Houston area customers whom we are privileged to serve.

Thank you,

Robert Young | Bellaire & Spring Branch Service Area Director
