CenterPoint Energy Pipeline Inspection

August 10, 2016

Dear Property Owner,

CenterPoint Energy will be performing an additional inline inspection on our natural gas transmission pipeline. Pipeline inspections are mandated by Department of Transportation (DOT) regulations to routinely monitor and inspect our pipelines, in lieu of the inspection that was conducted late June of this year.

The scope of this work will require a survey crew to walk along the pipeline and monitor the inline inspection tool, commonly referred to as a PIG. A PIG is a tool which travels through the pipeline to gather data on its condition. You may notice contractors walking along the easement above the pipeline through your property at any time during the day.

By performing these inspections on a routine basis, pipelines will continue to operate safely for years to come. Please be aware that survey crews may pass through your property to complete this work from August 15 to August 19.
